

Do-Art Gallery

Do Art Studio and Gallery: Featured Artist - David W.

Started in 2007 with a volunteer and a group of people working together to explore creative opportunities, the Do-Art program is a community arts program which brings artists with and without disabilities together to produce and sell their work. The program has grown to include drawing, painting, sculpture, crafts and full-fledged exhibits in the community.

The program operates a working studio in downtown Bay City and offers participants a chance to gain confidence in their skills and acquire new ones as they build friendships and create wonderful artwork. Hands-on training is provided in a variety artistic mediums.

In April, 2009, as an offshoot of this program, Do-All, Inc. opened the Do-Art which functions as a showcase to display and sell their original works of art.

The Do-Art Gallery is a retail outlet that is available to highlight and sell the work of participants in the Do-Art enrichment program. Stop in and enjoy the creations of a variety of artists; some with and some without disabilities - you might just find that one-of-a-kind piece you can't live without!
